VAUDEVILLE ON TWO STAGES

State Fair Entertainment Will Be Novel and Extensive.

White River Junction, Aug. 16.—State fair patrons will be given a treat in the vaudeville line at the exhibition to be given here Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15. Secretary Davis has been nearly a year assembling the features of the two big vaudeville shows that will be given on two stages opposite the big grand stands.

This concert act leads off with the Leach Wallin Trio, three versatile and beautiful girls who present a thrilling and new aerial acrobatic and wire contortion feat. "Big Ben," the marvelous bear, presents a roller skating feat that is both amusing and marvelous. This is one of the best acts on the stage to amuse children.

A bicycle act, sensational in every detail, will be presented by the Danabene company and Herman and Rice, acrobatic comedians and clowns, have one of the funniest acts ever seen on a fair ground stage. The world's greatest aerial gymnast, Marvelous Melville, will be seen in a sensational surprise, something entirely new.

The Bonnettes, in their balloon ascensions and parachute jumps, will introduce several novelties. Two aerobats will drop from the balloon with the same parachute. Bonnettes will also introduce his famous "side for life."

Work of preparation for the state fair is going along rapidly and all members of the state fair commission who are actively engaged in the preparation predict the best arranged and the biggest fair that has ever taken place on the state fair grounds.

The exhibition of cattle, which this year is open to the world, will be more extensive than ever. Entries are coming in from many states. The Morgan horse exhibit will be fully as large as at previous state fairs and many breeders are getting their stock in fine shape for a good showing.
